Did you know?

Whether you are a novice or a seasoned pro, our in-house designers have shared some key features of our Colour Your Bathroom range to help you make those all-important decisions for your bathroom project.

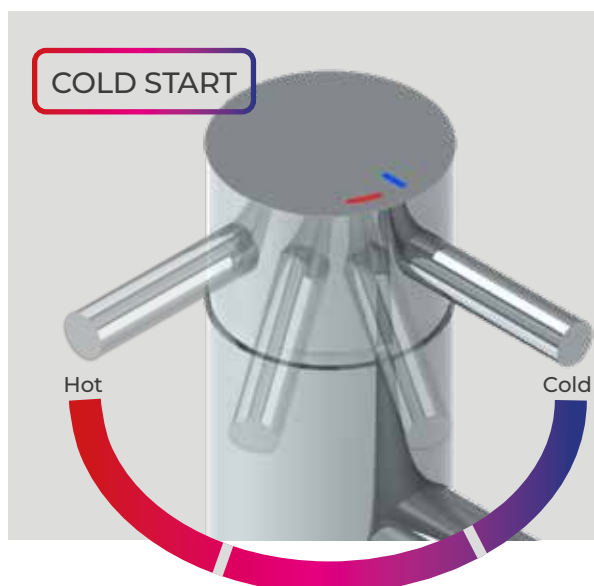

#1 It's all about the finer details...

Beautifully designed and expertly crafted from solid brass, our premium quality Iso Pro range of brassware, fixtures and fittings is guaranteed to add a style statement to your bathroom. Featuring subtle, intricate knurled detailing, this elegant, ergonomic design offers added grip for improved functionality whilst at the same time provides a contemporary decorative accent for that luxury bathroom feel.

#2 Reduce energy consumption

Designed with energy efficiency in mind, our Iso and Iso Pro range of taps have been engineered using cold start technology. Cold start technology is activated by the internal cartridge inside the tap, which has been configured so that when the handle is positioned in the central "start" position, the water that is delivered runs cold. This saves the unnecessary heating of water for daily rituals like washing hands and cleaning teeth - encouraging responsible management of energy and water.

Our Iso and Iso Pro taps are supported with a 15 year guarantee and certified to WRAS Approved standards.

#3 It's what's inside that counts...

Our Colour Your Bathroom range of taps have been fitted with industry leading, patented design Vernet® thermostatic cartridges that provide a precise and stable mixed water temperature thanks to their dual flow control function.

This design feature helps to reduce energy consumption due to a quicker temperature increase. These durable, long lasting cartridges are made from high-quality polymer that resists scale build-up, and have been fitted with a preset temperature function as well as an anti-scald safety function for total peace of mind. Thanks to this highly advanced design of regulatory components, Vernet® have developed their cartridges to provide the best temperature regulation and safety in accordance with industry standards.

#4 Colour Match

Our Colour Your Bathroom range has style, functionality, practicality and design in spades. Our comprehensive range consists of taps, shower valves, push plates as well as a whole host of other fixtures and fittings to help you create that dream bathroom you crave.

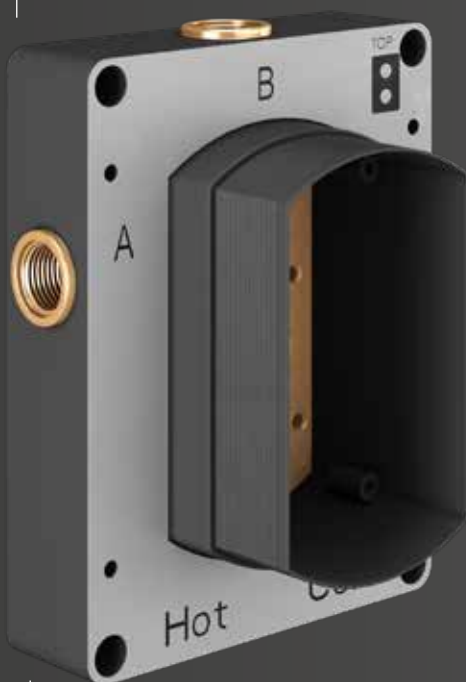

Achieve that colour coordinated finish by selecting your chosen products in any one of our stunning colour finishes from Brushed Bronze to Matt Black for that harmonised designer look.

Water saving

Water consumption around the world has now reached levels that cannot be sustained and are impacting on our planet's ecosystem.

As part of our ongoing environmental efforts, we are now pleased to introduce a range of flow limiters that can be purchased to help reduce water usage without affecting performance or design.

Why go eco?

The Environment

Reducing water consumption helps preserve our natural resources and lower the impact on climate change.

Government Legislation

Changes to Building Regulations Part G requires that all new build domestic property and change of use renovation be subject to maximum daily water consumption per person. In addition, the Code for Sustainable Homes is a requirement that planning authorities use to grant permission for social housing developments and again, maximum daily water consumption levels must be achieved. The use of flow limiters help achieve these levels.

Money Saving

Fitting flow limiters within a domestic household can save hundreds of pounds in water bills annually. In addition, it can also help reduce energy bills since less water is needed to be heated during showering etc.

Flow Limiters

Flow limiters are used to restrict flow of water for taps, showers and valves.

They are used to comply with part G of the UK Building regulations.

Saves energy, saves water, saves money!

Understanding Your Water Pressure

Understanding your water pressure and the importance of this when choosing your taps and showers

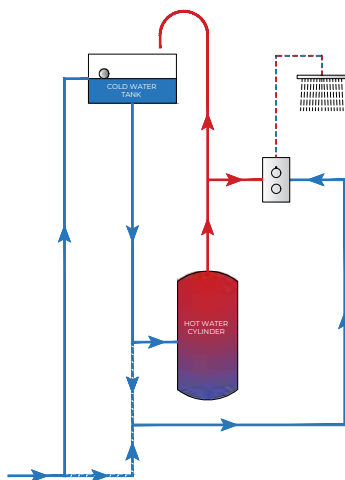

It is important that you understand the hot water system in your dwelling prior to selecting your products.

All products in this brochure are marked with a pressure rating (BAR pressure) min 0.5
bar and it is important that your hot and cold water system can produce the required level of pressure in order to make the items function correctly.

Please see below the diagrams of the typical hot and cold water systems in UK properties, along with an indication of the pressure rating of the products you can use with each system.

Please be aware this is a guide only and for further information you should contact a qualified installer.

1 Gravity Hot Water System – Low Pressure

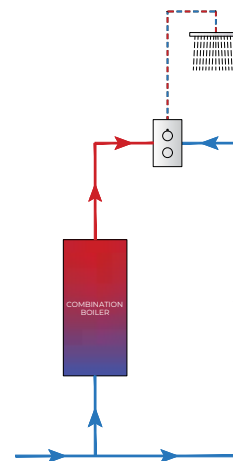

Low Pressure Gravity systems generally comprises of a tank in the loft of a building which feeds a hot water copper cylinder below.

The Items available to choose from that work with this system are recommended to have a bar pressure that is;

≤ 0.2 Bar (for Taps and Showers on the same floor as the hot water cylinder)

≤ 0.5 Bar (for Taps and Showers on a floor below the hot water cylinder).

2 Combination Boiler – High Pressure

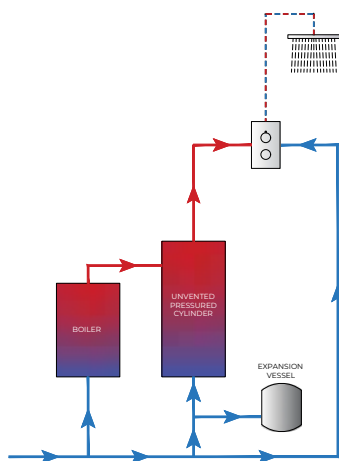

A combination boiler is fed by mains cold water and heats the hot water on demand. There are no storage tanks or shower pumps in this system.

The Items available to choose from that work with this system are recommended to have a bar pressure that is;

≤ 1.5 Bar.

3 Mains High Pressure System – High Pressure

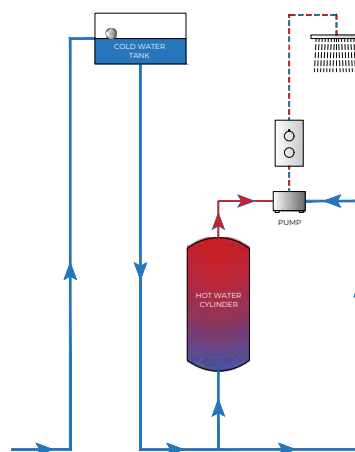

A high pressure mains system comprises of an unvented cylinder with no header tank in the roof. In this system both the hot and cold water are supplied at mains pressure.

The Items available to choose from that work with this system are recommended to have a bar pressure that is;

≤ 3.0 Bar.

4 Gravity System with Pump – High Pressure

A gravity system with a pump is like a low pressure gravity system with a header tank and a copper cylinder, except that there is a pump boosting the pressure of the hot and cold water which operates in demand and converts this system to high pressure.

The Items available to choose from that work with this system are recommended to have a bar pressure that is;

≤ 3.0 Bar.

Coloured Finishes

In respect of coloured finishes of bathroom products it must be noted that a bathroom contains many different types and varieties of products (i.e. taps, wastes, shower hoses, radiator valves, shower screens, accessories etc.), and also these components are made from different materials including brass, stainless steel, plastics, aluminium. Whilst every effort is made to visually match all component products in each colour, it must be noted that due to the nature of colours and materials, there may be variations in appearance between different components, especially in relation to different lighting conditions.
